

Sip n' Cycle Coffee Tour "De La Gente"

Trip Description

This is a beginner to intermediate mountain bike ride with a tour of a local coffee farming co-op.

The Ride:

Our ride out to the coffee coop of De la Gente is the flip side to seeing a large scale production farm. This ride will take us to a community on the flank of Volcan de Agua where local farmers work together as a co-op to grow, pick and process their own coffee for export. De La Gente works with the local farmers' co-op to help them brand their coffee and reach markets in North America and Europe. We will take a private tour with one of the co-op farmers to their field and then go to their house to see how they toast the coffee on a small batch at a time level. Finally we will have lunch with the family before heading back to Antigua. This trip is more expensive than the ride out to commercial coffee farms, but a portion of your trip price goes straight to the farmer/co-op for the tour there.

Highlights:

- Explore the Antigua valley
- Meet and interact with small local coffee farmers
- Sample various blends of some of the best coffee Guatemala has to offer
- Learn about how coffee is planted, harvested, and produced, from picking to packaging
- Enjoy a home cooked meal in the home of your host coffee farmer
